

The Water Ration Riddle

When the scorching sun returned to camp, four weary castaways took turns refilling their containers at the trickling spring. By dawn, every drop mattered — yet some drank more than others, and not all told the truth about what happened to their missing water. Piece together their visits, their excuses, and how much they really drank.

	Contestants	Container	Reason	Time Spent	Amount

Reason	Didn't Measure

- The 8-minute visit used the Metal Canteen and said “Spilled Some.”
- Brooke claimed “Evaporated,” and that person drank the least.
- The Bamboo Cup user spent 4 minutes at the station.
- Lena drank exactly 1.0 L more than Brooke and spent longer at the station than Grant.
- The Clay Jug was a shorter visit than the Gourd Flask.
- “Shared with Camp” had neither the shortest visit nor the Metal Canteen.
- Of the two men, only one said “Didn’t Measure Right,” and that man used the Bamboo Cup.
- The 4-minute visit drank the most overall.
- The camper who said “Shared with Camp” drank more than 1.0 L.
